A cycle is completed

Tuesday January 23, 2017

Just this morning while sitting silently before the morning meeting I suddenly remembered that 18 years ago at the end of January the sharing of beingness with people happened for the first time.

In all these years the beingness has immensely expanded. It is still deepening and unfolding. It is obvious to me that there is no end to this happening.

The 18 years of sharing and being in a certain way available came to a completion.

Whenever a cycle is completed, another one starts.

The next cycle is opening. It is opening for people who have a strong urge to awaken from the dream of the mind. The final phase of my life I would like to dedicate to individuals who are searching for the crystallization in beingness.

Lalla and I are open to anybody who wishes to start their journey into beingness, or if it has started already, to center and finally crystallize in beingness.

Beingness is not something one becomes. It is a remembrance, a realization.

The beingness is already inside of everybody as a potential. It just needs to be discovered.

At this point I would like to share a quote from Osho about this subject:

“The original source of all tension is becoming. One is always trying to be something. No one is at ease with himself as he is. The being is not accepted, the being is denied and something else is taken as an ideal to become. So the basic tension is always between that which you are and that which you long to become.”

Love,

Pan
